

To Whom It May Concern, That Sinclair Broadcasting feels free to force its stations to run an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a perfect example of the dangers to democracy posed by media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves at no cost but rather than promote diversity of opinion, it treats it's broadcast license as a free pass to push its private political agenda. Their outrageous actions show why media ownership rules need to be strengthened, particularly with regard to license renewal.

Thank you.
